I CLAIM:

1. A fluid containment device comprising:
 - a) a flexible bag body defining a containment space;
 - 5 b) said bag body including walls and at least one opening, said opening including a means for sealing off said end;
 - c) a means for accessing through said bag body walls and into said containment space; and
 - d) a means for inflating portions of said walls to provide rigidity and strength to said walls.
- 10 2. The fluid containment device claimed in claim 1 further including a means for draining fluids captured within said containment space.
3. The fluid containment device claimed in claim 1 wherein said bag body comprised of at least two flexible membranes.
- 15 4. The fluid containment device claimed in claim 3 wherein said bag body including an inner membrane and an outer membrane disposed adjacent each other to form a double layered wall.
5. The fluid containment device claimed in claim 4 wherein said inflating portions defined by the space between said inner and outer membranes.
- 20 6. The fluid containment device claimed in claim 5 wherein said inflating portions comprising inflatable chambers extending between sealed locations where said outer and inner membranes are sealed together.
7. The fluid containment device claimed in claim 6 wherein said inflatable chambers including horizontal inflatable chambers and vertical inflatable chambers.

8. The fluid containment device claimed in claim 6 wherein said inflatable chambers being tubular in shape.
9. The fluid containment device claimed in claim 3 wherein said membranes including an inner dimpled surface such that when said bag body collapses onto itself voids are formed between said bag walls forming drainage pathways for any entrapped fluids in said fluid containment device.
10. The fluid containment device claimed in claim 1 wherein said sealing means including Velcro® male and female connectors for sealing off said collar around or against a body part.
11. The fluid containment device claimed in claim 1 wherein said sealing means including adhesive means for sealing off said collar around or against a body part.
